Director Report

Meg Backus noted her written report was included in the Board packet. Highlights of current issues include:

A commercial online fee-based newspaper archive “Newspaperarchive.com” has been harvesting newspapers from the NYS Historic Newspapers database and publishing the content on their site. The terms of our site expressly forbid mass downloading. They have been blocked from the website, but we believe our technical fix could easily be circumvented. We are seeking advice from our attorney Cole Adams to see if there is any re-course.

Rotten Tomatoes has notified us they are using the NYS Historical Newspaper website as a source for historical film reviews.
Development of the Empire Archival Discovery Cooperative, an online finding aid for NYS archival collections, is moving forward. A tiered cost model has been proposed that prioritizes accessibility for the smallest organizations. Each participating institution would pay a setup fee and an annual maintenance fee. For small organizations the one-time setup fee would be $50 and the annual fee would likely be $0.

The DueNorth user group recently met to discuss reopening concerns. The group agreed lenders should extend their loan periods to allow for quarantining on the receiving end of ILLs, and maintain accurate lending statuses so the tool displays availability correctly. A Listserv was created to facilitate group-wide communication among all DueNorth users.

The Hospital Library Services Program (HLSP) is back up and running. Samaritan library staff have returned from furlough and are now offering services again. We are exploring new outlets for the program, such as moving away from the model of services delivered to the region’s hospitals from one hub. At Our September board meeting, we will present HLSP law, regulations, and guidelines, in order to build board awareness on the program's purpose and parameters.

During the COVID-19 pandemic, the Network will not support grants to in-person events.

Tupper Lake Public Library was recently added as a new member.
